

Abstract of the Disclosure

Disclosed are controlled release dosage forms of pharmaceutical or nutritional agents that are intended for retention in a buccal or sublingual location for administration. The dosage forms are particularly useful for the sustained release administration of drugs that have a limited window of absorption in the gastrointestinal tract and that are minimally, if at all, absorbed mucosally.